This employee support petite motion picture exposes rampant, illegal action currently being perpetrated against Hollywood laborers, especially the talent portion of this important industry's mix. GP therein also displays recourse for workers at a highly lucrative rate. Continuing as a activist for the downtrodden during his entire life, Phile personally and professional leads this charge to curtail Hollywood employer's mistreatment of the field in which he has labored for more than a half-century.

Scheduled to break the nine hundred acting jobs and/or performance appearances mark during his first five La La Land years, to date Walker has played in eighty-seven music videos including as a Principal Dancer in Justin Timberlake's "Can't Stop the Feeling!" Trolls movie theme song, in J. Cole's "ATM", Bruno Mars' "Uptown Funk", Kendrick Lamar's first two Grammy Award wins for "I", etc. With SAG Theatrical Co-Starring credits in the likes of Marvel TV's Legion opposite Dan Steven, HBO TV's Sharp Objects opposite Amy Adams and (as chronicled in his talent employment workbook) the Lead's father in John Singleton's Snowfall on FX TV, Phil's feature-length movie shoots include the Lifestyle channel's The Other Wife, Ryan Stevens Moon Garden which is now in post-production and the just released Flying Cars. Phillip's first 50 short film performances include David Schell's CSU-Long Beach junior undergraduate student production Darkroom, which has earned seventeen film festival accolades among sixty selections on six continents plus arguably his best short film performance to date in André Campbell's multi award-winning Lew's Up First, the wildly popular Abbott & Costello "Who's On First" stand-up comedy routine homage which last year aired on more than one hundred USA Network affiliate local TV stations Nationwide in BadamiTV's African American Short Films series. Having performed in at least one commercial/industrial/promotional gig every month since June of 2015 for brands such as Nike, State Farm and Jimmy John's, Phillip Walker's first SAG National Commercial On Camera Principal role is in the currently airing Darren Aronofsky directed United States Food & Drug Administration video game "Only One Leaves".
